

Teacher Tapp Insights

Want to know how your school stacks up? Wondering what other teachers are experiencing across the country?

We've pulled together our latest Teacher Tapp insights into themed collections you can use for department meetings, personal CPD, or just to see how your own experiences compare. From homework habits to lunchtime behaviour, mobile phone policies to school uniform rules, these snapshots offer a quick and evidence-based way to spark reflection and discussion.

■ Click into the topics below to explore what thousands of teachers have told us.

1. Home – School relationships

Find out what trends Tappers have told us about parents and their relationship with the school.

Click here to find out more ■ Home-School relationships insights

2. Homework

Homework is a common tool for extending learning beyond the classroom. What insights can our data provide about how schools make the best use of it?

Read about our findings in ■ Homework insights

3. School uniform

Most schools have expectations for dress codes – but how common are strict uniform expectations? And are standards relaxing over time?

Find out the lowdown on school sartorial matters here ■ Uniform insights

4. Mobile phones

Ever since mobile phones first entered the classroom, teachers have had to deal with unwanted behaviours regarding the devices.

Here's the current screen time snapshot  Mobile phone insights

5. Lunchtimes

Break and lunch are key times for poor behaviour – but how are schools managing their pupils while they're out of class?

There goes the bell  read all about our breaktime findings in Lunchtime insights